READING

Time: 15 minutes

TASK 1

Read the text below and match each paragraph A - D with the topic it covers 13 - 16:

13. why the translators needed to work fast paragraph _____

14. the number of translated Harry Potter books paragraph _____

15. some problematic translations paragraph _____

16. why translating Harry Potter wasn't easy paragraph _____

Translating the world's bestseller

A There are more than 400 million Harry Potter books in the world. But approximately 100 million copies do not contain any lines from the author's original text. That's because they are translations. At the moment, there are versions in over sixty languages, including Welsh, Latin and Ancient Greek.

B Jean-Francois Menard, the French translator of the Harry Potter books, translated the 700-page fourth book in just 63 days. The translators didn't have much time because they could only begin when the English version appeared in the shops. This was because the author wanted the story to be a total secret. In a few countries where the general public's level of English is very high (for example in Scandinavia), it was very important to translate the books quickly. If not, people in those countries could just buy the original English version, not the translation.

C In other countries such as China, there were unofficial, pirate translations. People sold them on the streets illegally. The author didn't receive any money from these books and often the translations were not very good. A pirate version in Venezuela in 2003 contained many mistakes. The translator occasionally put a few of his own informal messages into the text, for example “Here comes something I can’t translate, sorry”, or “I didn’t understand what that meant”.

It’s true that the translation of J.K.Rowling’s books had some special difficulties. One big problem was with invented words and names. There are a lot of these words in the series – approximately 400! Spanish readers find most of these words exactly the same as in English. So, quidditch (the invented sport that Harry Potter plays) and muggles (humans who haven’t got magical powers) are unchanged in the Spanish versions. But in Brazil the translator invented her own Portuguese words to express the ideas and sounds of the original words. So we have quadribol to translate quidditch, and trouxas instead of muggles.

Task 2

Read the article and complete the gaps 17–21 with the correct sentence A–F. There is one extra sentence which you do NOT need to use.

Shopping now and then

Many of us enjoy going shopping. We love the hustle of going to the high street, looking at shop windows, talking to shop assistants, examining various goods, comparing prices, trying clothes on and, finally, a few hours later, returning home exhausted, carrying bags full of brand new things.

(17) _____ In fact, when most consumers these days think of shopping they think of a one-stop visit to a shopping centre.

There are, however, quite a few people that don’t really like going shopping. When they absolutely have to buy something, they plan carefully, choose what they want and where they can get it, go to the shop, swiftly buy what they want and rush back home. (18) _____ They shop online or by mail order, and get everything delivered to them, without having to leave the comfort of their home.

Most teenagers, though, really enjoy going to the shopping mall. (19) _____ For them, it’s not so much a place where they can do their shopping as one where they can socialize and make new friends. As a result, teenagers often arrange to meet and hang out at the mall, even if they have no intention of going shopping.

This function of the shopping centre seems very much the same as the function of some of the oldest covered markets in the East, which can be seen as the forerunner of the modern mall. (20) _____ The first covered market in the East was Isfahan's Grand Bazaar, whose buildings go back to the 10th century, while the Grand Bazaar of Istanbul, which was built in the 15th century, with its 58 streets and over 4,000 shops, is still one of the largest covered markets in the world.

It seems that people's habits haven't really changed very much over the centuries. (21) _____ In the same way that people in the Middle East have always met, done business and had a cup of coffee in the traditional bazaars, contemporary teenagers meet and have fun in the multiplex cinemas and fast food restaurants of the various malls.

- A. In addition, the shopping experience in those markets is very different from what most of us are used to.
- B. This is a large shopping centre which contains hundreds of different shops, as well as other places where you can relax or have fun.
- C. Alternatively, we go to large department stores or shopping centres and spend half the day there, shopping to our heart's content.
- D. Going to the market was, and still is, a social networking event more than anything else.
- E. Others don't even go to the trouble of visiting the shops.
- F. These markets are known as bazaars, which in Persian means "the place of prices".
